President's Message

There are unforgettable and pivotal moments in life, and graduation is one such occasion.

Whether you are celebrating the completion of your course, or celebrating the success of someone special to you, today is significant milestone marking the achievement of years of study and a readiness to venture into the world.

While today you have the genuine excitement of seeing your own name on a graduation parchment, I think the real excitement of this ceremony lies in the recognition that you have acquired new knowledge and skills that others will value.

Graduation is a milestone in a life of lessons from many sources – it is not a sign that your learning is complete, but it is certainly a major step in your journey.

The value of higher education is its contribution not only to what you know, but to how you think.

Your postgraduate program with Flinders and Nankai universities has certainly developed your knowledge and skills, but more importantly it has deepened your ability to think critically, to analyse problems and, when necessary, to challenge conventional wisdom.

The Nankai-Flinders relationship is one of our most valued and respected international collaborations.

Our partnership began in 2000 with the Master of Arts in International Relations in Economy and Trade. A total of 69 students graduated from this inaugural course. Now 23 years later our three courses with Nankai University have produced more than 7000 graduates. We are proud of our enduring partnership and the opportunities this provides students to take their careers to the next level.

You are now one of a community of more than 120,000 Flinders University graduates globally who have aspired, dreamed, and achieved just as you have – and just as you will in the future. Flinders University places great value in retaining a connection with alumni and supporting you in what we hope will be a life-long love of learning. We hope you will update us on your journey so that we may follow your progress.

On behalf of Flinders University, I congratulate your personal achievement in earning your degree and I'm delighted to welcome you as a valued member of the Nankai-Flinders alumni community. May you be inspired to always strive to make the world a better place.

Professor Colin J Stirling
President and Vice-Chancellor
Flinders University

Professor Colin Stirling BSc Edin, PhD Glas
President and Vice-Chancellor.

Congratulations!

You are now part of an impressive group of over 125,000 Flinders University graduates from across 130 countries who are finding their place, leaving their mark and making a difference around the world.

Leverage your degree long after graduation by tapping into this powerful network, including the 7000+ Nankai alumni, and make connections wherever you may travel.

Keeping you updated on news and opportunities

As a Flinders graduate, you will now receive our monthly alumni e-newsletter – keep an eye out for eNCOUNTER in your inbox, it contains relevant news, opportunities, events and alumni stories. And don't forget to update us if you move or change email address, that way we can let you know about events and opportunities in your location.

Share your story

We all have unique life stories and we would love to hear about yours as you follow your career path. Over the next year, or in the next decade, inspire the next generation of students by sharing what your next steps were beyond Flinders University and how you achieved your career goals.

We look forward to staying connected

We are so excited for your next move after you graduate, but we also want to continue to engage with you, inspire you and help you reach your career goals into the future.

Staying connected is an important way for us to let you know about Flinders and Nankai University Alumni Network activities, professional development opportunities, reunions and events in your location (whether that is Sydney or Shanghai!).

You can stay connected by updating your contact details whenever you move or change jobs. Fill in the online form or contact the Alumni Relations Team.

Celebrating a 20-year partnership

As the world came to a pause in 2020, we were sadly unable to hold any in-person graduation ceremonies. We also missed the chance to commemorate an impressive milestone for our institutions – 20 years of postgraduate education between the Flinders and Nankai Universities.

High quality educational delivery

Nankai University is ranked a Double First Class University by the Chinese Government, and as such, recognised within the top tier of organisations within the Chinese education system. Our partnership is therefore well recognised and continues to open doors for Flinders University, both within China and throughout the world. We are committed to the very best outcomes for both parties, ensuring the long-term health and prosperity of our relationship.

Marking the anniversary

To honour this special and significant milestone, an anniversary publication and video was produced. It features profiles of graduates from the three joint programs, leaders from both Flinders and Nankai sharing their thoughts on the strength and importance of the transnational partnership, how it has developed over the 20 years and how the two universities have worked together to create a close and effective working relationship that is built on mutual trust and respect.

“My studies have provided far-reaching benefits for me. As a leader of the organisational transformation for the hospital, our management reforms have been very successful, improving the hospital’s economic and social benefits, and optimising the allocation of health resources.”

“During my studies, I learned more about diverse ways of thinking, from both Chinese and other countries’ perspectives, including their different cultural backgrounds and learning methods.”

LIU Wei

“Many former graduates from our program have set a good example for me. They not only made great progress in teaching theory and practice, but also broadened my vision and provided great communication with all our teaching colleagues, at home and abroad.”

Graduation ceremonies

THE GRADUATION CEREMONY

The ceremony is an important day in the University year and a proud day in the life of those who are graduating. The graduation is the culmination of years of study and is the occasion on which the University formally awards certificates and diplomas and confers degrees upon those students who have completed their studies at the University over the past year.

The ceremony is an exciting blend of old and new; a ceremony steeped in tradition in which many of the customs and much of the regalia dates from many hundreds of years and the earliest universities, while the graduates represent the latest in ideas, technologies and expression.

Academic dress is part of the rich heritage of universities. The beginning of the ceremony sees the staff of the University show their pride and support for the new graduates by wearing academic dress and official robes in the academic procession. When presented with their academic Testamur, the graduates also wear the academic dress.

Master of Hospital Administration

The Flinders University Master of Hospital Administration (MHA) award has been taught in China in partnership with Nankai University since October 2003. The MHA is fully equivalent to the Master of Health Administration taught by Health Care Management on campus at Flinders University in Adelaide, South Australia.

The MHA provides students with a range of generic management skills as well as a deep understanding of issues facing hospital managers working in health systems abroad and in China. The MHA program has successfully combined expertise from Nankai University staff and local experts in hospital management, with the experience of international visiting experts on health care management from Australia. The program has also managed to blend Chinese and Western teaching methods. The use of adult learning methods and small group work to discuss management problems in the Chinese health system has been particularly successful.

The MHA is particularly relevant to hospital executives in China at a time when the country is facing major health system reforms. Chinese hospitals face significant challenges in the areas of financing, rural health, risk management and workforce development in the context of changing consumer expectations and rapidly evolving technological innovation.

Over the past 20 years Nankai University and Flinders University staff have worked closely together to make the MHA program a success. In the process a strong and enduring relationship has developed between staff of Health Care Management at Flinders and staff of the Faculty of Economy and Society Development at Nankai.

China is a major global player and a strategically important trading partner of Australia. In a small, but not insignificant way, the MHA contributes to the relationship between the two countries. It is hoped that MHA graduates will find further opportunities to strengthen these international links through trade and professional development. For our Australian lecturers participation in the MHA program has been a rewarding and enriching experience. We hope that MHA graduates will remain in contact with our academic staff throughout their professional life as alumni of Flinders University.

Master of Arts (International Relations in Economy and Trade)

The Master of Arts (International Relations in Economy and Trade) (MAIRET) has been offered in China by Flinders University in partnership with Nankai University since 2000. The program is taught by staff from the University's College of Business, Government and Law in association with Nankai University.

The MAIRET equips students with cutting-edge knowledge and skills in International Relations focusing on international political economy, international business, finance, and trade. It has a particular emphasis on the economic and trade relationships in the Asia-Pacific Region and the political and economic implications of the rise of East Asian economies in this digital era.

Students undertaking the MAIRET course with Flinders University are taking part in an enterprise which is truly international, not simply in terms of its intrinsic content but also in its overseas availability and recognition. As Chinese business is increasingly moving up the value chain and rapidly going global, the course is particularly intended for business managers, government officials, and nonprofit leaders who aim to increase their international savvy.

Postgraduate university credentials in International Relations are valuable for graduates who seek professional recognition and employment in international public affairs, international banking, international business and trade, diplomacy and foreign affairs, journalism and related areas.

Master of Educational Leadership and Management

The Master of Educational Leadership and Management is a postgraduate coursework program offered by Flinders University. The program is taught by staff from the University's College of Education, Psychology and Social Work, in association with Nankai University, China.

The degree is intended for individuals in leadership positions within schools, colleges or universities wanting to obtain a formal leadership and management qualification; and/or senior staff in schools, colleges or universities wanting to move into a leadership and management role.

The course aims to critically explore how leaders build human capacity to meet the current and future challenges of their environment; investigate how an organisation's people can be encouraged to become lifelong learners while contributing to the success of the organisation; and engage students in learning that integrates theory with practice, action with reflection, and questions with investigation.

Postgraduate university credentials in leadership and management are valuable for graduates who seek professional recognition and employment in schools, colleges, universities and other educational organisations.
