President's Message

There are unforgettable and pivotal moments in life, and graduation is one such occasion.

Whether you are celebrating the completion of your course, or celebrating the success of someone special to you, today is a significant milestone marking the achievement of years of study and a readiness to venture into the world.

While today you have the genuine excitement of seeing your own name on a graduation parchment, I think the real excitement of this ceremony lies in the recognition that you have acquired new knowledge and skills that others will value.

Graduation is a milestone in a life of lessons from many sources – it is not a sign that your learning is complete, but it is certainly a major step in your journey.

The value of higher education is its contribution not only to what you know, but to how you think.

Your postgraduate program with Flinders and Capital Normal universities has certainly developed your knowledge and skills, but more importantly it has deepened your ability to think critically, to analyse problems and, when necessary, to challenge conventional wisdom.

Flinders University is honoured and proud to be one of Capital Normal University's closest international partners, a partnership that celebrates 20 years in 2024.

Since 2004, more than 800 Master of Education students have graduated and are now making a difference in roles across China and the region.

Not only does the Flinders-CNU partnership celebrate a milestone in 2024, but so does Capital Normal University, which is celebrating 70 years of academic excellence and the cultivation of generations of talent that has benefitted students, their families, and the entire country as a whole.

Professor Colin J Stirling
President and Vice-Chancellor
Flinders University

We are proud of our enduring partnership and the opportunities this provides students to take their careers to the next level, and we look forward to expanding our teaching and research collaborations across a broader range of disciplines in the future.

You are now one of a community of more than 130,000 Flinders University graduates globally who have aspired, dreamed, and achieved just as you have – and just as you will in the future. Flinders University places great value in retaining a connection with alumni and supporting you in what we hope will be a life-long love of learning. We hope you will update us on your journey so that we may follow your progress.

On behalf of Flinders University, I congratulate your personal achievement in earning your degree and I'm delighted to welcome you as a valued member of the Capital Normal-Flinders alumni community. May you be inspired to always strive to make the world a better place.

Professor Colin J Stirling BSc Edin, PhD Glas
President and Vice-Chancellor.

Congratulations!

You are now part of an impressive group of over 130,000 Flinders University graduates from across 130 countries who are finding their place, leaving their mark and making a difference around the world.

Leverage your degree long after graduation by tapping into this powerful network, including the 880+ CNU alumni, and make connections wherever you may travel.

Keeping you updated on news and opportunities

As a Flinders graduate, you will now receive our monthly alumni e-newsletter – keep an eye out for eNCOUNTER in your inbox, it contains relevant news, opportunities, events and alumni stories. And don't forget to update us if you move or change email address, that way we can let you know about events and opportunities in your location.

Update your contact details

Share your story

We all have unique life stories and we would love to hear about yours as you follow your career path. Over the next year, or in the next decade, inspire the next generation of students by sharing what your next steps were beyond Flinders University and how you achieved your career goals.

We look forward to staying connected

We are so excited for your next move after you graduate, but we also want to continue to engage with you, inspire you and help you reach your career goals into the future.

Staying connected is an important way for us to let you know about Flinders and Capital Normal University Alumni Network activities, professional development opportunities, reunions and events in your location.

You can stay connected by updating your contact details whenever you move or change jobs. Fill in the online form or contact the Alumni Relations Team.

Celebrating a 20-year collaboration

When our two institutions first introduced a joint Master of Education program in 2004, our shared ambition was to transform the lives of our students through the power of education. Both universities believe that education, collaborative research, innovative teaching, evidence-based learning, and critical thinking can have immense social impact.

Coming together for educational excellence

Throughout our 20-year partnership, the ethos and philosophy of both Flinders University and Capital Normal University has been to create life-long partnerships with our students, to help achieve your academic goals and to ensure you are ready for fulfilling careers upon graduation.

As partners we now look forward to further expansion and deepening of our collaborative project. Through more academic exchanges and collaborative research, together we can address challenges in education and make greater contributions to the development of the sector.

Marking the anniversary

To honour this special and significant milestone, a 20-year anniversary publication has been produced. It features profiles of three Master of Education graduates as well as messages from Flinders and Capital Normal leaders sharing their thoughts on the strength and importance of the transnational partnership which is built on mutual trust and respect.

Dr CUI Rong (MEd '06, EdD '12)

"I am an Associate Professor in the College of Elementary Education at CNU, while also holding an academic status at Flinders. Without the joint Master of Education program that exists between our two universities, I couldn't possibly have achieved so much in the past 20 years."

YANG Yanjun

YANG Yanjun (MEd '22)

"I recognised that the strategic application of Information and Communication Technology tools can significantly enrich the content and form of art education, enhancing its vividness and interactivity. This program has not only broadened my horizons in education but also, more importantly, ignited a passion for the in-depth exploration of art education."

YANG Jingxian

YANG Jingxian (MEd '22)

"Our professors gave us the suggestion of how to be successful in education, and through this we remain inspired by the endless possibilities in education that exist for us as teachers – and that we should be aware of the happiness that education brings, because it matters and makes such a difference to people's lives."

Graduation ceremonies

THE GRADUATION CEREMONY

The ceremony is an important day in the University year and a proud day in the life of those who are graduating. The graduation is the culmination of years of study and is the occasion on which the University formally awards certificates and diplomas and confers degrees upon those students who have completed their studies at the University over the past year.

The ceremony is an exciting blend of old and new; a ceremony steeped in tradition in which many of the customs and much of the regalia dates from many hundreds of years and the earliest universities, while the graduates represent the latest in ideas, technologies and expression.

Academic dress is part of the rich heritage of universities. The beginning of the ceremony sees the staff of the University show their pride and support for the new graduates by wearing academic dress and official robes in the academic procession. When presented with their academic Testamur, the graduates also wear the academic dress.

Master of Education

The Flinders University Master of Education degree has been taught in China in partnership with Capital Normal University since 2004. The Master of Education is taught by education experts from the University's College of Education, Psychology and Social Work with the support of leading educators from Capital Normal University.

The Master of Education degree provides an opportunity for practicing teachers to collaborate with Australian education experts to improve their professional practice. The course blends contemporary theoretical knowledge with hands on experience to produce graduates who will inspire the next generation of globally engaged Chinese learners.

Over the past 20 years Capital Normal University and Flinders University staff have worked closely together to make the Master of Education program a success. Over this time a strong collaborative relationship has developed between the academic community at Flinders College of Education, Psychology and Social Work and Capital Normal University's College of International Education. This collaboration has supported the course to continuously evolve to meet the changing needs of Chinese educators and students.

Achieving a postgraduate qualification in education shows an individual's commitment to the craft and theory of the profession, situating the graduate as a future leader in the sector.
