

Graduate Certificate in Health Promotion

This suggested study plan must be read in conjunction with the course rule at:

www.flinders.edu.au/courses/rules/postgrad/gchp

To qualify for the Graduate Certificate in Health Promotion, a student must complete 18 units according to the program of study below.

Year 1 topics

Semester 1:

PHCA9507 Health Promotion in Public Health

Option topics* (4.5 units selected from the list below)

Plus:

PHCA9501 Social Determinants of Health and Wellbeing AND

PHCA9514 Action on Social Determinants of Health (offered as an intensive in Non-Semester 1)

OR

PHCA9505 Primary Health Care Practice in Developing Countries

Option topics*:

Semester 1:

PHCA9516 Introduction to Cancer Prevention

If completing your studies on a part-time basis, option topics may be selected in Semester 2:

PHCA9502A Qualitative Research Methods - Part A

PHCA9504 Critical Practice in Indigenous Health

PHCA9510 Leadership and the New Public Health

PHCA9511A Social Statistics in Public Health - Part A

PHCA9518 Food Democracy for Public Health Practice

Students may, in consultation with the Course Coordinator, select alternative option topics to those listed above.*